Using YouTube Red benefits

There are several benefits included in your YouTube Red membership. Check out the benefit details and how to customize your YouTube Red membership:

Ad-free videos

Save offline

Save videos and playlists to watch offline when you aren't connected to the internet. Save offline is available on YouTube and YouTube Gaming mobile apps when you are signed in with your YouTube Red membership account.

Save videos offline

1. Start watching a video on the YouTube or YouTube Gaming mobile app.
2. Tap add to offline  below the video player (under the DETAILS tab in the YouTube Gaming app)
3. Select the video quality.
4. The available offline icon  will appear below the video player when successfully saved. For iOS users, the video will save once you stop watching.

You can view your saved videos under the Account tab .

To remove a saved video, tap available offline  and select Remove.

Change offline saving settings

By default, videos and playlists can be saved offline only when connected to a Wi-Fi network. To save videos offline over a mobile network, go to Settings  and turn off Save over Wi-Fi only under "Background & Offline".

Set offline video quality

To change the default quality for saving videos, go to Settings  and select Quality under "Background & Offline". Higher quality videos may take longer to save offline and may use more storage space on your device.

If less than 5% of storage space is available on your device, you won't be able to add additional videos to offline. To free up additional space, try removing a saved video or playlist.

Accessibility

- You must be signed into your YouTube Red account to save videos to watch offline.
- Some actions, like commenting and liking, are not available while viewing videos offline.
- Videos will remain offline for up to 30 days.
- Some content may not be available offline when you reconnect to the Internet due to content restrictions from video creators.
- If your device loses connectivity while saving a video or playlist offline, it will automatically resume when you reconnect to a mobile or Wi-Fi network.

Background play

Update to the latest version of the YouTube mobile app to make sure you have access to all the features included in your YouTube Red membership.
